A SUCCESS STORY - FROM ML SYSTEM TO CONDAIR

Since 2011, ML System has been a part of Condair – the world leader in commercial and industrial humidification and evaporative cooling products and systems. This means that we have access to Condair's world-leading expertise and product range and that Condair's product range includes our renowned ML System products.

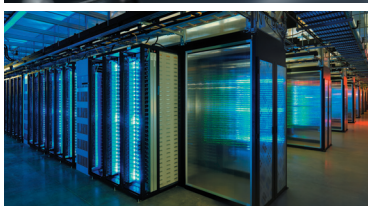

ML System was established by Marianne Jager and Leo Rasmussen in 1987 and it rapidly became a leading humidification company. This leading position has followed its natural course, with the company becoming part of Condair. Along with Anderberg Fugtstyring, we have changed our name to Condair A/S.

“The aim is to continue developing and supplying the highest quality for energy-efficient humidification and evaporative cooling.”

Even though the name Condair A/S now appears on the front of the building, the brand name ML System will still be used on the renowned high-quality products that are developed and manufactured in Ry. The aim is to continue developing and supplying the highest quality for energy-efficient humidification and evaporative cooling. This will ensure that Condair A/S continues to provide the best conditions for production and storage, e.g. in cold stores, printing industry, data centres, electronic manufacturers and fresh fruit and vegetable departments in the retail sector.

Condair A/S ensures the ideal indoor climate for a wide range of companies and institutions. A select few are shown below:
